

Electric Pugilist.

An electric device has been brought out for use in boxing, and is described as a registering armor for boxers. This device is a simple arrangement of belts which are strapped over the face and about the body. These straps contain electric push-buttons located at certain points, which are connected by wires to a register apparatus. In this way the practice of boxing can be reduced to a very scientific basis, and every hit scored when a point is made. The belts and buttons, of course, are cushioned, so that no blow can harm the body, and thus the practice of boxing has many unpleasant features eliminated therefrom.

Nye's Rye Field.

Lately I had a letter from Bill Nye, written at his highly cultivated farm in the mountains of North Carolina, in which he says: "I have a field of rye on my farm that, I think, will run about four gallons to the acre. Come down."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Like a Venomous Serpent

Hidden in the grass, malaria waits our approach, to spring at and fasten its fangs upon us. There is, however, a certain antidote to its venom which renders it powerless for evil. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is this acknowledged and world-famous specific, and it is, besides this, a thorough cure for rheumatism, dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, is a gripe and nervousness. In convalescence and age it is very serviceable.

by statements regarding the supposed curative qualities of tonics, nervines, cod-liver oil and iron compounds. Little permanent good results from their use. The greatest good comes by increasing the digestive power. Tynes' Dyspepsia Remedy will do that. In simple indigestion it will give comfort at once. In chronic dyspepsia it will give quick relief, and, with a little perseverance, bring about a permanent cure. Price 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

Hog Raising Extraordinary.

Keeps Men Poor.

The clerk might be "poor" if he had the lead for it. The brain is there, but they don't seem to work. The trouble usually begins in the stomach. Indigestion keeps men poor because they don't know they have it. Indigestion is something else. Ripans tablets insure sound digestion and a clear head. They regulate the entire system. FASHION'S WHIMS.

FALL AND WINTER NOVELTIES IN WOMAN'S WEAR.

Waist Trimmings Are Getting Elaborate—How to Wear Veils—Styles in Jackets and Capes.

W AIST trimmings are growing more and more elaborate, if that were possible, until there is no telling where this extreme will end. A new costume has an arrangement of cloth and drapery that illustrates the excesses to which this fashion is being carried. A narrow section of the material extends over each shoulder from the waist line at the back to the bodice point in front. This is laid in plaits that are caught down or pressed to hold them in place. From the front of this plaiting long tabs fall almost to the hem of the skirt in front. Around this and the waist section is a plaiting made extremely full and graduated. Over the shoulders it is about eight inches wide and grows narrower to the waist line, where it is but about an inch and a half in width. The same order is observed in the tabs. At the lower portion the plaiting is very wide; a large, loose bow is placed at the waist line in front and covers the meeting point of the plaitings that pass over the shoulders. This arrangement is made of taffeta silk and crepon, and is large enough to almost entirely cover the waist and the tops of the sleeves nearly to the elbows.

Another waist trimming has double ruffles of taffeta silk on a wool material. These ruffles are set in just over the shoulders, and are graduated to the waist line, where they form a surplus effect. Over these double ruffles are very wide pointed revers of the dress fabric. These revers are opened on the shoulder like a lapel, one point running in front of the sleeve, the other in the back.

NEWEST STYLE OF A FALL AND WINTER COSTUME.

Another dress has the waist entirely covered with ruffles of very finely crimped chiffon or crepe lisse. There is a velvet collar and velvet sleeves and belt, the thin ruffles veiling the entire figure with the exception of a single wide box plait of velvet that passes over the ruffles and is caught in at the waist line.

HOW TO WEAR VEILS.

There are many little details of fashion that the world at large knows not of, but of which it merely sees the effect. To the woman who is always well gowned, says the New York Herald, these same little details mean a great deal.

There is a marked difference in how veils should be worn. They are no longer tied so close across the face that the eyes appear protruded, but are loose and flowing. A box plait or gathered fulness at the top of the veil has been in vogue for some time, but the ends have still been fastened tight. Now only the upper part of the veil is fastened and the rest is allowed to hang as it will, and if carefully arranged the folds will form a sort of jabot effect that is quite pretty.

The embroidered chiffon is the latest novelty, and the dark colors are preferred. The white, with black chenille dots, which has been so fashionable and so blinding, is a trifle passe, but it is too becoming to go entirely out of style.

Veils are still worn long, to come below the chin, and are as much a part of a costume as the hat itself. The plain mesh is preferred by some to the fancy dots, but both are admissible.

Telephone Newspaper.

The telephone newspaper organized at Pesth, Hungary, has now been working successfully for two years. It is called the Telephone Hirondito, or Herald, costs 2 cents, like a printed paper, and is valuable to persons who are unable or too lazy to use their eyes, or who cannot read.

It has 6,000 subscribers, who receive the news as they would ordinary telephone messages. A special wire 168 miles long runs along the windows of the houses of subscribers, which are connected with the main line by separate wires and special apparatus which prevents the blocking of the system by an accident at any of the stations. Within the houses, long, flexible wires make it possible to carry the receiver to the bed or any other part of the room.

The news is not delivered as it happens to come in, but is carefully edited and arranged according to a printed schedule, so that a subscriber at any time knows what part of the paper he is going to hear.

It begins with the night telegrams from all parts of Europe. Then comes the calendar of events for the day, with the city news and the list of strangers at the hotels. After that follows articles on music, art and literature.

The staff is organized like that of any other newspaper, and is on duty from 7:30 in the morning until 9:30 o'clock at night. After the copy has passed through the editor's hands, for the paper is subject to the same restrictions as ordinary newspapers, and is liable for its communications, it is given to the "speakers." These are ten men with strong voices and clear enunciation, who work in shifts of two at a time and talk the news through the telephone.

There are twenty-eight editions uttered a day. Additions to the first edition are announced as news items.

To fill the time when no news is coming in the subscribers are entertained with vocal and instrumental concerts. These were at first given for them especially in the office of The Hirondito, but now the wire is in communication with the opera house and the music halls, and on Sundays and saints' days with the churches.

The music is transmitted at times to other places in Austro-Hungary, and recently The Hirondito microphone was connected with the circuit going from Trieste, through Vienna, Bremen and Pesth to Berlin, the music being heard in all these places with equal clearness and force.

The happy Hungarian can lie abed all day and hear everything that is going on his town.—New York Sun.

In Either Case, Missed.

He was a well-to-do looking stranger, and when he had retired for the night the landlord said to his wife, "If we don't get a good speak out of him, I'll miss my guess."

After he had been there a week he "cleared," leaving his bill unsettled. "Well," said the landlord's wife, after they had talked the matter over, "you have missed your guess."

"Yes," said the landlord, humorously, "I have missed my guest."—Boston Courier.

Why You Should Use Hindercorns.

It takes out the corns, and then you have comfort. Surely a good reason. Do at drug stores.

Nothing to complain of—the woman who uses Pearline. Nothing to complain of in the washing and cleaning line, anyway. And certainly the proprietors of Pearline can't complain. If you only knew how many women, every day, are making up their minds that the old, wearing, tearing, tiresome way of washing doesn't pay!

It's growing bigger than ever—the success of Pearline; though it has to fight not only against all kinds of poor imitations, but against a sort of superstition that anything which can save so much labor must be harmful in some way.

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as" Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back.

Lead Us Not Into Temptation.

First Brother (at Ocean Grove)—Good morning, brother! What a perfect divine Sabbath morning! What a truly religious feeling pervades this holy spot! It was a heaven-born idea for the founders to lock the gates on the Sabbath morning, and thus shut out sin and worldly business.

Second Brother—Amen, Brother! Amen! But whither dost thou journey?

Second Brother—I'm going over there, too. I want to get some bread for breakfast.—Puck.

A Book for Women.

To assist modest, afflicted women in the successful treatment of diseases peculiar to their sex, a book has been prepared under the direction of Rev. R. L. McElree, assisted by eminent physicians and specialists, entitled: Home Treatment of Female Diseases.

The book is written in simple language, easily understood, and contains:

1st.—A description of the female organism.

2d.—Instructions for detecting the approach of the menstrual age, and for treatment during the monthly period, and to insure its regular return.

3d.—A minute description of diseases affecting the genital, urinary and menstrual organs of women, giving their causes, symptoms and treatment.

A paper edition of this great book has been prepared, copies of which can be secured for six cents in postage. Write, Rev. R. L. McElree, St. Elmo, Tenn.
